Small Communities Big Problem

We all think if we live in a Small Community that we are somewhat insulated from Big City problems. But that is not true with the Internet. Computers, cell phones and other electronic media allow the internet predator to enter our communities and even our homes. This training will provide you with information and the tools to combat and prosecute these predators. You will also receive training on effective prevention strategies.

This three day training conference will focus on State and Federal laws that currently exist and how to apply them to enforcement efforts. The topics include:

- Overview of State and Federal Child Exploitation Statutes
- Overview of State and Federal Sex Offender Registration Statutes
- Search and Seizure Issues
- Investigative Resources
- Investigative Techniques
- Information on Current and Future Technology Trends
- Outreach Tools and Prevention Strategies
- Speakers from the National Center for Missing and Exploited Children and the Child Exploitation and Obscenity Section of the Criminal Division of The United States Department of Justice are scheduled to speak.

- All presenters are prosecutors and law enforcement officers who currently investigate and prosecute these cases in the Eastern District of Kentucky and others who support those efforts daily. This training will provide strategies for you to conduct effective investigations and prosecutions of those who utilize computers and other electronic media to prey on our children.

Mark your calendar and register to attend this unique training opportunity at beautiful Carter Caves State Resort Park.

This conference is sponsored by the U.S. Attorney's Office – EDKY and the Kentucky State Police ICAC Unit and being paid for with special training funds and grant funds. The Kentucky Attorney General's Office is a participating partner providing instructors and support.
